

THE FARM BILL IN NEBRASKA

The Farm Bill provides tens of millions of dollars per year in conservation assistance through cost-share, rental payments, easement payments and technical assistance to Nebraska farmers and ranchers. The programs help producers better steward the state's soil, woods, waters and wildlife, and provide conservation and economic benefits.

Environmental Quality Incentives Program

The Environmental Quality Incentives Program provides financial and technical support to help farmers and ranchers integrate beneficial conservation practices on working lands. In 2023, top Nebraska practices included cover crops, brush management and prescribed grazing.

Nebraska in 2023:

- ✔ $29.2 million obligated to producers from Farm Bill funds.
- ✔ 936 contracts, making improvements on 381,291 acres.

Conservation Stewardship Program

In 2023, the Farm Bill invested $25.8 million in Nebraska through the Conservation Stewardship Program (CSP). 262 contracts totaled 617,397 acres across the state. CSP helps farmers and ranchers implement multiple conservation practices over a five-year contract to enhance their entire operation.

Top Nebraska practices include:

-  Prescribed grazing
- ✔  Pest management conservation system
-  Nutrient management
-  Cover crops

Conservation Reserve Program

In 2023, 11,567 Nebraska farms and ranches were enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), accounting for 2.2 million acres. Of them, 65% held at least one Continuous CRP contract—best known for its practices that can be implemented alongside regular production, such as grassed waterways, filter strips, wetlands and pollinator habitat.

Between 2019-2023, Nebraska landowners received $366 million in annual CRP rental payments.

Conservation Easements

Natural Resources Conservation Service easement programs like the Agricultural Conservation Easement Program help landowners protect their property's conservation value. The agreements can be used to protect farmland, wetlands, grasslands and more. In 2023, there were 749 easements in Nebraska, totaling 143,407 acres.

The Izaak Walton League and Nebraska

The Izaak Walton League of America was founded in 1922 to conserve outdoor America for future generations. The League's founders, avid anglers, named the organization after Izaak Walton, 17th century author of The Compleat Angler, a classic book about the art and spirit of fishing. Today, the League has 11 local chapters and more than 1,700 members in Nebraska.

One of America's oldest conservation groups, the League set a course to defend wild America through public policy. The organization has been involved in agricultural policy since 1937, when a League resolution called for a national program to retire fragile fields in mountainous areas from agricultural use. Today, more than 41,000 members across the country continue the legacy.
